MAYSVILLE, KY., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9, 1898.

NUMBER 90.

AYES, 311; NAYS, NONE.

Such Was the Result of the Vote on Defense Bill.

ELOQUENT WORDS UTTERED.

Fifty Million Dollars Placed in the President's Hands

TO BE USED AS HE DEEMS BEST.

With One Acclaim, Democrats, Populists, Fusionists and Republicans of the House Stood by the President in the Hour of Danger.

Washington, March 9.—In a spirit of patriotism, with eloquent words ringing in their ears, every member of the house of representatives responded to the president's first call to meet the Spanish situation by casting his vote for a bill placing in President McKinley's hands $50,000,000, to be expended at his discretion for the national defense.

Party lines were swept away, and with a unanimous voice congress voted its confidence in the administration. Many members who were paired with absent colleagues took the responsibility of breaking their pairs (an unprecedented thing in legislative annals) in order that they might go on record in support of this vast appropriation to maintain the dignity and honor of their country.

Speaker Reed, who, as presiding officer, seldom votes, only in case of a tie, had his name called and voted in his capacity as a representative. The scene of enthusiasm which greeted the announcement of the vote—yeas, 311; nays, none—has seldom been paralleled in the house.

All day long the galleries were jammed with enthusiastic spectators applauding to the echo the sterling patriotism of the words of eloquence which were uttered by the members on the floor. All the speeches were brief.

GREAT WAS THE PRESSURE.

Although four hours were allowed for debate, so great was the pressure for time that no one member was given more than five minutes, and most of them had to content themselves with a beggarly fraction of a minute. In all, 59 speeches were made.

With one acclaim members from the north and the south, the east and the west, the states and the territories, battle-scarred veterans of the Union and the Confederate armies, all joined in proclaiming their support of the country's chief magistrate in the face of a possible foreign war.

General Grosvenor of Ohio said that if war did not come the $50,000,000 appropriated by this bill would be wisely expended if it only served to show the world that when threatened from without the hearts of the American people beat as one.

In the whole debate there was only a slight discordant note, caused by the speech of General Bingham of Pennsylvania, a gallant soldier who served with distinction under Hancock. He spoke too conservatively for the aroused temper of the house, and when he insisted that our relations with Spain were as friendly as they had been for years many of the members hissed him.

While almost every member who spoke deprecated the possibility of war, a wide divergence of opinion as to how close were hostilities manifested itself in the debate. The general contention by the majority, among them the leaders on both sides, was that this appropriation, by preparing for war, would prove the surest guarantee of peace.

In the Senate.

Washington, March 9.—The session of the senate was largely devoted to the consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill. After an extended discussion the bill, containing a provision for the reduction of about one-half of the present rates of telephone charges in the district, was passed.

A bill to authorize the relocation and rebuilding of a pontoon bridge across the Mississippi river at Prairie du Chien, Wis., was passed.

The bill for the relief of the Methodist church south of Tennessee, appropriating $288,000, was passed after a brief debate.

At 4:50 p. m. a message was received from the house conveying to the senate the bill appropriating $50,183,000 for national defense, just passed by the house.

The bill was laid before the senate, and, on motion of Mr. Allison of Iowa, referred to the committee on appropriations.

Mr. Allen (Neb.) presented and secured the adoption of a resolution calling upon the attorney general to inform the senate how many writs of injunction were granted during 1897-98 by the United States courts against labor leaders and labor organizations, with certified copies of such writs, affidavits and other papers.

Hawley Bill Signed.

Washington, March 9.—The president signed the Hawley bill providing for two additional regiments of artillery to man the coast defenses.

GONE TO THE JURY

Has the Case of Sheriff Martin, Charged With Murder.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 9.—It was after 4 o'clock when the arguments in the Sheriff Martin trial closed. Judge Woodward immediately began his charge to the jury.

After defining the various degrees of murder, his honor took up the question whether or not such conditions of disorder existed in the region prior to September 10, the date of the shootings, as to justify the sheriff's action in calling out the posse comitatus.

In this connection he discussed the nature of the office of sheriff, his powers and duties, saying:

To disobey the summons of the sheriff is to be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall subject the offender to the punishment of fine and imprisonment.

There is no law, either by statutory enactment, or by any decision of our courts, to prevent laboring men from stopping work and going upon a strike whenever, in their opinion, it is for their interest so to do.

Nor is there any law which makes it a conspiracy for workmen, in any department of human industry, to combine together and by mutual agreement to refuse employment until there has been brought about a satisfactory adjustment with their employers and themselves upon the points at issue.

The liberty of contract is not to be infringed either by the employer or by the employee. As the employer has no right to compel a man to work who does not wish to work, so also is it true that the employee has no right to compel his fellow workman to quit work if he wishes to work.

And the compulsion denounced by the law is not alone that which consists in actual physical force applied by one set of men upon another. It may consist in a course of action tending to overawe, or frighten, or stampede a body of men who are anxious to work, as well as in laying a violent hand upon the individual workmen and forcing them by main strength to abandon their employment and unite in a strike.

It is certainly true that both at West Hazleton and at Lattimer the great body of the strikers failed to obey the sheriff when he ordered them to disperse, and insisted on pushing on. Nor can it be doubted that the sheriff had the right, in the exercise of the discretion vested in him by the law, to issue the order.

And if it was the right of the sheriff to command the crowd to disperse, then it was the duty of the crowd to obey his command. The right to give the order implies the duty of obedience to the order, and disobedience of it is evidence of a riotous purpose.

If I push on when the sheriff orders me to stop I do so at my peril. Of course this obligation of obedience to the authority of the peace officer of the county is not confined to laboring men. It extends to and embraces all the inhabitants of the county, rich or poor, high and low.

If you are satisfied, gentlemen, from the evidence, that the purpose of the sheriff and of the posse was to preserve order and prevent riot, then it would follow that their intent and object was not a criminal or unlawful one, and the rule of the law which makes the act of one the act of all has no application to the facts of this case.

If, on the contrary, you are convinced by the evidence that the sheriff was not actuated by a desire and intention to preserve the peace, but that he summoned his posse with the idea of inflicting upon the body of men, known in the case as strikers, want and unnecessary outrage and injury, without reference to their action and conduct—if, in short, his purpose was a base, malicious and wicked one—then, so far as the deputies were concerned, and so far as the deputies were concerned, if they understood his motive and acted with the same intent, the fact of a criminal and unlawful combination would be established, and then all the defendants might be convicted, although the shot which took the life of the deceased was fired by a single one of the defendants.

The act of one would, in that event, be the act of all. If under all the evidence in the case you are not satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the sheriff and his posse were impelled by a criminal or unlawful purpose, then the doctrine of the law which the commonwealth invokes, that where there are many defendants the criminal act of one of them is under certain circumstances to be regarded as the criminal act of all, has no place in this case.

Land Company Falls.

Knoxville, March 9.—A general creditors' bill was filed against the LaFollette Land company of LaFollette, Campbell county, Tenn. The company owns 16,000 acres of land in Campbell county and the town site of LaFollette.

Robert Williams Dying.

Bloomington, Ills., March 9.—Robert F. Williams, the Nestor of the Bloomington bar, is dying. He was stricken with blindness one month ago and has had another stroke of paralysis.

Man and Money Missing.

Orville, O., March 9.—Charles C. Cutten, night agent of the Adams Express company here, is missing. Likewise an express package containing $10,000.

BIG ARMORED CRUISER

Is Now Making a Bee Line For Hampton Roads.

THE COAST TO BE DEFENDED.

It Is Considered Probable That a Flying Squadron May Be Organized to Look After Spain's Dilapidated Tugs.

Washington, March 9.—The big armored cruiser Brooklyn, started away from La Guayra, under orders from the navy department, directly for Hampton roads.

She has been making a flying cruise in the West Indies and around the eastern end of Cuba, and it was the original intention to have her go to Colon, on the isthmus, and thence to work northward along the eastern coast of Central America.

The sending of the ship to Hampton roads instead of returning her to Key West, whence she came, is taken as an evidence of a change of policy on the part of the naval strategists, who have come to the conclusion that the gathering of the most and best of the vessels of the North Atlantic squadron at Key West is putting too many of our eggs in one basket and unduly exposing the eastern coast.

There has also been talk of organizing a flying squadron composed altogether of fleet cruisers—four in number—and having them ready to go to sea at a moment's notice in pursuit of an enemy's ships, relying upon the big battleships for the sole guard. This, however, has not been decided upon.

A proposition that received instant attention, and is expected to be approved in the end, has come to the navy department. This was to turn over to the navy department 10 of the best boats in the lighthouse service.

These boats are from 300 to 400 tons burden, good sea boats, manned by officers thoroughly familiar with every indentation of the Atlantic coast, and capable of being easily transformed into efficient gunboats. The Mangrove is a vessel of this character, new, stanch and speedy.

It is proposed to place a 6-inch rifle on a pivot mount on each vessel forward and to place a light armor around the boilers and machinery to protect them from small-arms fire at least.

The attention of the department has also been called to the feasibility of recruiting the naval list from the revenue marine cutters.

A THIRD INQUIRY.

Spain Charged Captain Crowninshield With Aiding the Insurgents.

Washington, March 9.—In conjunction with the intimations of the Spanish government regarding Consul General Lee and the class of vessels in which the relief supplies should be sent to Cuba, a third inquiry was made.

Captain Crowninshield was the object of a request for information as to the nature of the recent trip to the West Indies.

The Spanish government has been informed that Captain Crowninshield on this occasion had been in communication with the insurgents, and even went so far as to give them indirect aid through filibustering sources.

When the matter was brought to the attention of President McKinley an immediate denial in explicit terms was returned.

Spain thereupon closed the incident with an acceptance of the president's statement, saying they had been misinformed.

Drove the Price Down.

Havana, March 9.—It will probably be wise, for some time at least, to substitute something for condensed milk in the relief supplies sent to Havana from the United States. Since the distribution began here the price per can has gone from 22 down to 8 cents at the stores. The reconcentrados sell the cans or exchange them for something wanted more than the milk. This applies only to Havana. The outside cities need condensed milk for use in hospitals.

Changed His Plans.

New York, March 9.—An unexpected change was made by Major General Merritt in his plans for visiting the south Atlantic states to make his annual inspection of the seaboard fortifications. He received a dispatch from Washington ordering him to meet Prince Albert of Belgium upon his arrival and extend to him the official welcome to the United States. This made it impossible for him to leave St. Augustine at noon as he had planned.

Not Much Work Done.

Havana, March 9.—The court of inquiry did little work. Captain Sampson listened patiently to various theories propounded by newspaper men and others as to the cause of the explosion, and also to statements as to hawesers found in the harbor and boiler-iron on the shore. He intimated that he would investigate any stories that he deemed worth investigating.

Spanish Report of Victory.

Havana, March 9.—A Spanish report says that the Lealtad battalion of the government forces was engaged with 250 insurgent cavalry under the leaders Cardenas and Lila, with the result that the troops destroyed the insurgent camp and captured a lieutenant, some firearms, dynamite, ammunition and a medicine chest, besides killing several of the enemy.

Du Bose Is Pleased.

Washington, March 9.—Senor Du Bose, the Spanish representative in Washington, when seen at the Spanish legation and asked as to the present status of affairs, said: "Notwithstanding the apparent agitation, I am gratified to note that so far as actual occurrences are concerned they are adjusting themselves naturally and in a manner most satisfactory to both governments. The Lee incident is closed, if, indeed, it was ever open."

Towed to Sea and Released.

Havana, March 9.—The American schooner Esther, captured by the Spanish gunboat Arzilla in an inlet near Casilda, on the south coast of Cuba, was towed to sea by the gunboat, after repairing her rudder, and released, and has sailed for Jamaica.

Resignation Withdrawn.

Havana, March 9.—Senator Proctor says he feels confident that he induced Walter B. Barker to withdraw his resignation as United States consul at Sagua la Grande.

Brazil Would Sell.

Washington, March 8.—Brazil has offered to sell the United States the torpedo boat Niteroy. It is understood that Secretary Long has recommended to the president its purchase.

Sailed For Havana.

Washington, March 9.—The big cruiser Montgomery has gone to Havana to watch events there. If she is blown up as the Maine was there will be a mighty reckoning.

Looking After Warships.

Washington, March 9.—Captain Brownson has started for Europe to get options on a few warships.

IMPOSING DEMONSTRATION

On the Occasion of Cavalotti's Body Being Removed.

Rome, March 9.—There was an imposing demonstration when the remains of Signor Cavalotti, the poet and dramatist and well known Radical member of the chamber of deputies, who was killed in a duel with swords here on Sunday afternoon fought with Deputy Macola, editor of Gazzetta di Venezia, were conveyed to the railroad depot on their way to Milan. About 20,000 people followed the funeral car, which was escorted by municipal guards and a battalion of infantry, with colors flying and band playing.

Judgment Affirmed.

Cincinnati, March 9.—Judge Lorton of the United States court of appeals announced a decision in the case of the St. Louis Car Coupler company against the National Malleable Castings company, in which the plaintiff sued the defendant in the United States court at Cleveland for infringement of the Lorraine and Aubin patents by making a rival car coupler under a patent issued to Tower. The court at Cleveland (Judge Taft) found that the Tower device was not an infringement of the patents of the St. Louis company and dismissed the suit. The court of appeals affirms that judgment.

Data About Alaska.

Washington, March 9.—Two papers containing important contributions to the gold-bearing regions of Alaska, the publication of which have been awaited with great interest for nearly a year, have been issued from the government printing office. They are both advance chapters from the report of the director of the United States geological survey. The papers give the results of reconnaissance examinations by survey experts, made respectively in the summers of 1895 and 1896, or shortly before the outbreak of the Klondike gold excitement.

Woman's Horrible Fate.

Detroit, March 9.—Mrs. Anna Parry, 36, was burned to death in the backyard of her home. A policeman found the woman in the yard, clad only in her nightclothes, which were then alight. She died before he could extinguish the flames. Her hair was burned off and the flesh roasted and peeled from her knees upward. George M. Parry, her husband, has been arrested.

The Crow Girls Arrested.

Ewing, Ky., March 9.—The two Crow girls, who, with their mother, engaged in a pitched battle with officers in Lewis county a few weeks ago, in which the mother was killed, were arrested here while attending church. They were returned to Lewis county, charged with malicious shooting.

HE DID NOT PROVIDE.

The Lord Seems to Know Nothing About This Colony.

STARVING IN HOLY LAND.

A Lot of Suckers Taken In by a Fanatic Are Now Appealing to Relatives For Money to Get Back Home On.

Huntington, Ind., March 9.—Several months ago Samuel Yantiss, son of Jacob Yantiss, one of the best-known young men in this county, joined a religious colony that was forming for the purpose of visiting the Holy Land and Christianizing the natives of that country.

The leader of the colony was an old man in Nebraska, who told his followers that they needed little money or supplies, because the Lord would provide for them.

The colony reached the Holy Land. Now word comes back that the members are destitute and starving. The leader died some time ago, and the colony is shifting about in a helpless manner.

The young man's relatives and friends are arranging to send aid to him, and, if possible, they will bring him home.

A Fatal Joke.

Wabash, Ind., March 9.—Lee English, 16, living near Treaty, accidentally hanged himself. He was playing a joke to frighten his sister, when he slipped from a chair with a noose about his neck. As a result his neck was broken. The family was absent from home at the time.

De Lome's Carriage Sold.

Indianapolis, March 9.—Two equipages used in Washington by Senor Dupuy de Lome, the deposed Spanish minister, were sold here Sunday to John Corey. The carriages were brought here by Garrard Shover, a well known carriage manufacturer of this city.

These figures show a decrease of 403,756 in the number of horses, 100,841 in that of milch cows, 1,244,211 in that of oxen and other cattle, 840,283 in that of swine.

For Kentucky, fair Wednesday; southerly winds.

With over $300,000 in the city seeking a safe investment, Maysville bonds bearing 5 per cent. interest ought to command a good premium.

The "indignation" meeting held Monday by Bourbon Democrats to protest against the Goebel Election bill was attended by twenty persons, and twelve of these endorse the act instead of opposing it.

The House at Frankfort Monday passed the Chinn bill, providing that banks which do not accept the provisions of the new Constitution shall forfeit their charters. This will require all banks to pay ad valorem taxes the same as other property.

One of the most important bills introduced in the Legislature at present session was passed by the House Monday. It is the Desha bill, requiring the Assessor of every county to be furnished with a rubber stamp with which all notes, mortgages or vendor's liens shall be stamped and listed for taxation. It provides that any note or lien not thus stamped shall be void. The purpose of the bill is to require the holders of all such notes to list them for taxation, and unless they are listed and stamped they are void.

There are some natures so base and mean that if you treat them with proper courtesy and politeness, they conclude that you fear them and at once try to take some unfair advantage of you. They seem utterly incapable of appreciating motives higher than those which prompt their own actions. There are some animals and some people, too, who can only be kept in their places by giving them a sound thrashing, occasionally. While war seems a dreadful thing, yet it appears that Uncle Sam will just be compelled to administer the rod to Spain in order to teach her to stay in place. Or, at least, give her such a scare that she will not soon forget. It is usually necessary to give a bully a "good lickin'" before he can find it in his cowardly heart to respect you.

"A MEDICAL TRUST."

The Courier-Journal publishes a strong and suggestive article in regard to the recent passage of an anti-quackery bill through the Kentucky Legislature, and refers at some length to a discussion before the Health Committee of the Massachusetts General Assembly, in which a similar, and nearly contemporaneous, measure was characterized by William Lloyd Garrison as "an attempt to secure a monopoly of treating disease." Professor James, of Harvard College, argued before the same committee that the passage of such a bill would trammel the progress of medical science, and that the laws of the Commonwealth should not be made the instrument of such a work.

"There is force in the arguments of these eminent gentlemen," says the Courier-Journal, "but where shall we draw the line?"

A few years ago, the homeopathsists, it says, would have been excluded from practice by the same measure that excludes the osteopathsists to-day. But, strangely enough, it appears that "the homeopathsists are to-day co-operating with the other schools of medicine in favor of restrictive legislation." Does this mean that the homeopathsists have now more "science," or, simply, a little better "pull?" Is this medical progress in any high sense? or only medical politics in the very worst sense?

And, strange to say, all this pseudo-philanthropic reformatory legislation is largely the work—in Kentucky at least—of the Jeffersonian Democracy, the hope of humanity and the incorruptible guardian of the rights of man; of a party that has always stood with unflinching steadiness for personal and constitutional rights; that scorns paternalism in politics and scouts at protection in every form; that proclaims its faith in the capacity of the people and boldly opens a career to the talents and enterprise of their sons; that resents all interference with established local rights and institutions, and denounces with unsparing bitterness of vituperation, all trusts, monopolies and "combines!"

In view of the foregoing facts, what is the inevitable conclusion?

It is obvious, says the Courier-Journal, that all legislative acts against new ideas in medicine should be very carefully studied, and "that all attempts to form a medical trust for the suppression of progress in the healing art should be resisted."

This utterance has the ring of old-time democracy. It is a bold, wise and reasonable declaration. The times are sadly out of joint and much legislation is making the people mad. Even in Kentucky we begin to realize the force of that famous Jacksonian sentiment (the motto of the old Globe)—"The world is governed too much." There is something too much of a disposition to rectify the acknowledged and inevitable evils of society by the enactment of statutory laws;—by the injudicious enforcement of measures which, at the best, serve only to aggravate the ills which they are professedly designed to correct. In brief, the best interests of the Commonwealth are as seriously threatened by bureaucratic legislation—by the establishment of legislative bureaux, commissions and boards, as they are justly believed to be by commercial monopolies, trusts and "combines"—and all the result, as it seems to us, not of mere mischievous and mercenary demagoguery, but of popular ignorance and of legislative incapacity.

THE RIGHT MAN IN A TRYING HOUR.

Even as rabid a Republican journal as the Commercial-Tribune has only words of praise for that Democrat and ex-Confederate General Fitzhugh Lee, Consul General at Havana, for the able manner in which he has discharged his duties in the trying scenes since the blowing up of the Maine. The Commercial-Tribune's tribute is a strong one, and we give it in full:

Fitzhugh Lee may leave Cuba as Consul General, but if Spain gets rid of him in that capacity, she would make his acquaintance as a Major General of the United States, with an American army behind him.

All of which, at this writing, seems quite probable.

It may also happen that Spain will refuse us permission to send food to the starving Cubans by the cruisers Montgomery and Detroit. In that case we will send Cuba a fleet of battle ships, with decks cleared for action, instead of two little cruisers.

Fitzhugh Lee's recall from Havana has been peremptorily demanded by Spain. On Friday last his recall was requested, and in reply to that request President McKinley very promptly and properly replied with a polite refusal.

Now comes the ultimatum, to which we should also refuse to accede. In that case it would devolve upon Spain, and not upon us, to begin the conflict.

As the chief representative of the United States in Cuba during the insurrection Fitzhugh Lee has performed his duty bravely, fearlessly and honorably. He could not be otherwise than a man of exalted honesty and still more exalted bravery—for he is a Lee, of Virginia.

Gen. Lee has been pre-eminently the man for the trying position which he has filled so well.

At this juncture, when his personality and official acts bid fair to become a cause of war between two nations, the Commercial Tribune recalls with pride the fact that in these columns, before President McKinley had fairly entered upon the duties of his office, this newspaper urged the President to retain Gen. Lee at Havana.

Gen. Lee was kept at his post, and through the critical period now about to approach its logical and inevitable climax he has pursued the even tenor of his way, a faithful guardian of his countrymen and his country's interests.

America loves him. He has done well. Three cheers for Fitzhugh Lee!

Register of the Land Office.

Mr. North's bill abolishing the office of Register of the Land Office was brought up in the Senate Monday morning and passed. It has already passed the House and it is said the Governor will certainly sign it, so that it seems certain to be the law. It provides that the duties of this office shall be performed hereafter by the Auditor, and does away with the salary of the Register altogether.

Mr. North has introduced more bills than any other member looking to the reduction of expenses and has made a record in the House as an economist.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at J. Jas. Wood's drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1. Guaranteed or price refunded.

Some of the members of the company are quite well known in Maysville. The company's annual output has decreased from 20,000,000 to 6,000,000 bricks.

Assembly of Fabrics!

Not often you enjoy the satisfaction of making your selection from such a complete up-to-date stock. Here's a half dozen items, snatched at random from the multitude:

Dress Stuffs. Fifty different weaves of Novelty Dress Goods at this price, 25c. any one of which would have been a "snap" at 50c. not so long ago. Piscatorial Novelties. Have a weave resembling the vertebra of small fish with snarls of color tangled in the bones. Checks, unlike Shepherd Plaids. These are irregular in shape, with threads of color insinuating themselves all through the fabrics.

Storm Serges. You count the goodness of Serge by width, weight, fineness 29c. to $1.35. and yarn, and serge goodness never cost so little as now. A Serge dress is a necessity for outers and home-stayers. Maybe the most popular numbers are these at 35c., 45c., 50c., but you may decide; there's not a dear one in the lot. Widths run from 38 to 45 inches.

April Sky Mottles. That isn't its name; we adopted it because the goods suggest the thought of April skies. Six coloring, zig-zag mixtures of wool. Very stylish stuffs.

FROG IN A LUMP OF COAL.

A Remarkable Discovery Made By Town Clerk George Emig, of Bellevue, Ky., Yesterday.

[Enquirer.]

George Emig, Town Clerk of Bellevue, Ky., made a discovery Saturday which has set the scientists of the three cities to looking up works on reptile life during the antediluvian age.

Emig, whose reputation for truth and veracity is unquestioned, according to the story which he tells, and which is vouchsafed for by Mayor Brown, Marshal Ratliff and several other truthful gentlemen who do not indulge in "spiritus frumenti," was breaking a lump of coal at police headquarters yesterday afternoon. He had split the lump in half and was just about to put the larger half in the stove when a cavity in the lump attracted his attention. He carried it to the window, and was surprised to see that it had an occupant in the shape of a frog different in appearance from any he had ever seen.

The reptile had no eyes, but where these should be were simply two holes. The hind feet were very long and terminated in slender points. The skin was of a blackish hue. The reptile was unusually lively after it had been released from its prison cell, where it had doubtless reposed for thousands of years. It hopped about in a lively manner and attracted considerable attention. Emig is willing to swear that the lump of coal in which the reptile was confined was solid, and had not been tampered with before he broke the mass and released his toadship from his long captivity.

 First—They are the original and only genuine Chilled Plows made.

Maysville Property Owners Asked to Aid Washington Fire Company—Subscriptions to Date.

The following is self-explanatory:

To the Property Holders and Citizens of Maysville: On Sunday morning, January 30th, the Washington Fire Company lost by fire their home, together with the opera house upon which they depended for their support and upon which our citizens depended for an amusement hall. In the destruction of the building there went up in smoke and flame the hard earnings of the company, covering a period of forty-eight years and amounting to over $12,000. They are now without shelter and without a single dollar—nothing left save their honor. The firemen of our city have always been faithful to duty in saving your property, and upon many occasions have saved our city from total destruction. It is now proposed, and due them, to rebuild their home, and for this purpose a subscription has been started and a liberal amount secured. Will you be one to assist in this effort by a subscription? Respectfully,

THOMAS A. DAVIS,
ALEX. CALHOUN,
J. D. DYE,
WM. H. COX,
HORACE J. COCHRAN.

Every property owner in the city is directly interested in this matter, and a liberal response to this appeal will enable the company to begin the work of rebuilding as soon as spring opens.

If you have not subscribed and desire to do so, send your name either to the Bulletin or to any of the above committee, stating amount.

Mr. JOSEPH I. DORSEY, of Flemingsburg, died early last Monday, aged fifty-five years. For some days there had been little hope for his recovery. Deceased was an ex-Union soldier, having served in the Sixteenth Kentucky Infantry. He was a member of the Christian Church, the order of Oddfellows, the Knights of Honor and the G. A. R. He leaves a wife and family and several brothers and sisters,—among the latter Miss Alice Dorsey, of this city. Funeral services were held at the Flemingsburg Christian Church Tuesday afternoon by Elder W. S. Willis.

CITY MARSHAL EDWARD STEVENS, of Midway, was Monday afternoon sentenced to twenty-one years' imprisonment in the penitentiary for killing Jackson Miller, a prominent farmer. The killing occurred the Saturday night before the November election. Miller and a crowd of men were drinking, and some of the party were yelling for their favorite candidates. The officer placed the crowd under arrest, and was attempting to take Miller, who protested his innocence, to jail. The evidence showed that Stevens shot hastily and without excuse.

DR. PANGBURN reports three births yesterday afternoon and last night in Clifton and Oklahoma—a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Edgington, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. John Tolle and a son to Mr. and Mrs. George Vantine.

A gold pen was given Johnnie Bullock for having the neatest copy book and making the greatest improvement in writing. After this treat was given the children and all returned home, sorry school had closed. The teacher, Mr. Tom Politt, has given entire satisfaction and under his most able instruction the pupils have made rapid progress. We sincerely hope the Board of Trustees may be able to secure his services for the next school. When you have a good teacher it is advisable to retain him if possible.

The sick man knocking at the door of health gets in if he knocks the right way, and stays out if he doesn't. There are thousands of ways of getting sick but only one way to get well. Do whatever you will. If you do not put your digestion in good order, and make your blood rich and pure, you will not get well. Rich, pure blood is the only thing that can bring perfect health. Constipation is a disease of the blood. A large part of all diseases are traceable directly to impurities in the blood, and can be cured by eliminating them with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first thing it does is to put the whole digestive system into perfect order. It stimulates the appetite, excites a copious secretion of the digestive fluids and promotes assimilation. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be, kills them and forces them out of the system. The "Golden Medical Discovery" has been used with unvarying success for over 30 years.

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

New Burley Has Been Active and Strong and Prices More Satisfactory To Sellers—The Outlook.

(Furnished by Glover & Durrett, Louisville Tobacco Warehouse.)

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 4,140 hds., with receipts for the same period 2,118 hds. Sales on our market since January 1st amount to 31,732 hds. Sales of the crop of 1897 on our market to this date amount to 30,138 hds.

New Burley.—The offerings of the week have again been large. Receipts are light and stocks are being reduced. The market for new burley has been active and strong and prices more satisfactory to sellers than at any time during the year. All grades have been closely watched. The common and medium grades of the color kinds such as have been selling from $6 to $9, have materially improved in price. The good to the leaf has been fully as strong as at any time during the season. The shortage in the last crop is becoming more apparent, and we confidently look for a continued strong market.

Old Burley.—The market continues firm for old burley, the medium and common grades in good condition selling relatively higher than the good to fine leaf.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco (1897) crop:

Trash (dark or damaged).....$ 3 00/4 50

The Coal You Didn't Order

Is what got for you a cold reception at home. If you want to have "a hot time" at your house twenty-four hours in the day use SEMI-CANNEL COAL. It burns clean and not too fast; throws out a steady, strong heat and holds fire all night. Take a trial order to-morrow—and when you order a load you'll get FULL WEIGHT every time, being one of the things we're very particular about.
